INTERNATIONAL TACTICAL MEDICINE COMPETITION

03-04 OCT 2026 · FORSYTH, GA · TACMEDCOMPETITION.COM

TACTICAL MEDICINE ISN'T ALWAYS AN ALGORITHM.

The SOARescue International Tactical Medicine Competition brings tactical medical providers from around the world together to collaborate and compete in a community of peers. Tactical and operational medicine isn't always an algorithm — expertise lives between the boxes: the seconds between injury and evacuation, the calls made under fire, the decisions no protocol fully covers.

We build the arena where those decisions are trained, tested, and mastered. Your sponsorship puts your brand at the center of it.

"We seldom rise to the occasion — we fall to the level of our training."

— LTC DAVE GROSSMAN (RET.)

Tactical medicine is a relatively new specialty within pre-hospital care. Together with the operational medicine community, we create opportunities to increase awareness, collaboration, and training — bringing like-minded professionals together in support of a cause greater than self.

The event is built as a training day and a competition day, giving attendees and competitors the opportunity to increase knowledge and refine their craft. Your support of this cause will save lives.
